Facts About High Water And The Deer

Continuously heavy spring rains have raised water levels in Conservation Area 3 of the Central and Southern Florida Project, causing progressively mounting problems for the Everglades deer herd. The herd is concentrated toward the northern portion of that area. Federal and State wildlife officials estimate the herd at about 5,000 animals, and have cited drowned fawns and undernourished mature deer resulting from the high waters covering the normal grazing vegetation.

Several newspaper items have called present high waters "a man-made flood," because they are occurring in an area set aside for controlled water storage. The conservation areas are important elements of the flood-control project, serving to store waters in times of plenty and carry them over to successive drier periods for beneficial use in supplying coastal urban and agricultural needs, and supplying vital waters for Everglades National Park farther south.

Those areas are carefully regulated by controlling water levels to a schedule which is based on the most beneficial range of stages throughout the year so as to conserve water, but at the same time to prevent stages so high that hurricanes or other severe rainfall periods could endanger the surrounding levees and the people and property, they protect. Despite adherence to this logical schedule, it is to be expected that prolonged droughts will produce water levels lower than optimum and other periods will be so rainy as to bring them above schedule. It is not possible to predict or prevent those extremes. Such extremes have occurred in nature and were much more frequent and severe, than result with project works.

It must be appreciated that the only way to carry water over from wet to dry periods is to store it in the conservation areas. This is their primary purpose, which must be preserved for the project to work effectively in supplying water to the lower east coast and to the park. Wildlife, however, finds a compatible habitat in those areas except for the extreme periods—such as at present.

It should be noted, however, that flood periods have occurred in the deer area in the past. For example, the herd in Conservation Area 3 was decimated to a small fraction of its former size by the flood of 1947—which caused flood damages of nearly $60 million and gave the principal impetus for undertaking the flood-control project. That natural flood produced water levels higher than at present and they persisted for many months.

The present high water is not manmade, as has been stated in the press, but is the natural and direct result of extremely heavy rains. The 4-year drought, 1961-1965, was broken this year by rainfall over south Florida which exceeded the comparable 6-month rainfall of 1947. Surprisingly, nearly 4 feet of rain fell during the first 6 months of 1966.

Mrs. Tom Wanek and Lowell Hughes spent the past weekend in Daytona Beach with their niece, Mrs. Ross Stone, from Killeen, Texas.

Gene Stacy and Benita Johns Wed July 22 In White City

Miss Benita Johns, daughter of Elder and Mrs. E. L. Johns of Ft. Pierce, became the bride of Michael Eugene Stacy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Stacy of Bryant, Florida, in a candlelight ceremony Friday, July 22, at the First Baptist Church of White City.

The double ring ritual was performed at 8:00 o'clock by Elder Jimmy Creel of Belle Glade.

Wayne Stacy, brother of the bridegroom, at the piano and Mrs. Gene Morrison, soloist, offered a program of nuptial music with Mrs. Morrison singing "Because God Made You Mine," "Each for the Other," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Decorations in the church included a fern-covered arch, sprinkled with blue and white flowers, through which could be seen a white kneeling bench against a background of palms and seven-branched candelabra entwined with ivy. Fan-shaped pew markers were made of pale blue peau de soie and white net, centered with white rose buds tied with dainty white ribbon bows and streamers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed in a formal ensemble designed and made by her mother. The fitted bodice, made of Chantilly lace over bridal satin, featured a scalloped neckline outlined with iridescent sequins. In each scallop was a pearl-embroidered heart interspersed with pearl and rhinestone-embroidered daisies. The wrist-length fitted sleeves of unlined Chantilly lace had a pearl-embroidered heart at the sequin-outlined point. The slim, fitted midriff emphasized the full flare of the princess style skirt which was of bridal satin with insets of Chantilly lace and extended into a train. A detachable, chapel-length train of Chantilly lace was fashioned in a peacock design with the heart-and-daisy pearl and rhinestone embroidery repeated at the point of attachment. She wore a heart-shaped birthstone pendant, a gift from the bridegroom.

A headdress of re-embroidered lace petals, aurora borealis beads, and seed pearls held her elbow-length veil of silk illusion. She carried a crescent arrangement of white orchids attached to a heart fashioned of Chantilly lace and bridal satin.

Miss Jerilyn Johns, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Her gown was a modified princess style of pale blue peau de soie with a sleeveless bodice and scoop neckline and with pale blue velvet ribbon accenting the Empire waistline. A floor-length train in a peacock design was attached at the waistline with a rose made of pale blue peau de soie. She wore a picture hat of pale blue peau de soie and elbow-length white lace gloves. She carried a single blue rose attached to a silver fan overlaid with Chantilly lace.

Bridesmaids were Miss Melanie Johns, sister of the bride, and Miss Louise Stacy, sister of the bridegroom, who were dressed identical to the honor attendant.

Flower girl was Miss Robyn Jimmerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Jimmerson of Belle Glade. Her outfit was a sleeveless, full-length dress with a pale blue peau de soie bodice and a full skirt of white satin sprinkled with blue rose buds. She wore a picture hat similar to the bridesmaids and white gloves. She scattered rose petals from a basket made of pale blue peau de soie and white lace, trimmed with blue rose buds.

Walter Parker of Bryant served as best man. Ushers were Ralph Stacy, brother of the bridegroom; Jerry Rushing, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; and Dennis McCoy of Lake Wales, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Johns, mother of the bride, was dressed in an ensemble of dusty rose crepe with matching hat, white accessories, and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Stacy, mother of the bridegroom, chose a beige lace ensemble with matching accessories and also had an orchid corsage.

A reception was held at the White City Club building following the ceremony. The pale blue and silver color scheme was carried out with a four-tiered wedding cake decorated with pale blue roses and silver leaves and topped with a miniature bridal couple against a background of a white lace heart. The serving tables were covered with lace over blue and illuminated by blue candles in silver candelabra. Blue rice in white tulle, tied with blue ribbon and placed on a silver tray was available to the guests. Miss Mary Simpson kept the bride's book. Others assisting were Mrs. Earl Carraway, Mrs. Cedell Simpson, Mrs. Charles Hartsfield, Mrs. Lottie Turner, Mrs. M. G. Sheffield, Mrs. J. W. Robertson, Mrs. Bob Lundy, Mrs. Bobby Jimmerson, and Miss Brenda Seasons.

A two-piece sleeveless suit of apricot-and-white raw silk with a long-sleeved blouse, of apricot shantung, Matching hat, and white accessories was Mrs. Stacy's choice for traveling when the bridal couple left for a trip to the Keys, cut short by Mr. Stacy's unexpected orders to report for six months' duty with the National Guard. Her corsage of white orchids was part of her bridal bouquet.

The bride's parents combined a rehearsal party with a surprise birthday party for the bridegroom on Thursday night at the educational building of the First Baptist Church of White City.

Mrs. Stacy is a 1965 graduate of Auburndale High School and has been employed as secretary by M. A. Ramsey, Realtor, since moving to Fort Pierce.

Mr. Stacy graduated from Pahokee High School in 1963 and attended Palm Beach Junior College. He reported for duty with the National Guard on July 25 and his bride will make her home with her parents until his basic training is completed.

Those attending from this area were Mrs. Mollie Stacy, paternal grandmother of the bridegroom; Mrs. James P. Walls, Sharon Walls, Jane Walls, Glenda Shurley, Susan Burns, Susan Hughes, Eddie Jimmerson, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Matthews, Mr. Letha Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Bobby Jimmerson, Mrs. Ellen McDowell, Carol Petty, Ronald Shurley, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Brown, Mrs. Mabel Jimmerson; Elder and Mrs. Jimmy Creel and family, Mrs. Doris Spence, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis, Patricia Davis, and Lowell Hughes, all of Belle Glade; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Smith, Marsha Woods, Beverly Woods, and Buddy Culberson, all of Pahokee; Elder and Mrs. G. "Today, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines."

"Today, above all, is a time for all Americans to rededicate themselves to the spirit that animated the Minutemen of Concord—who serve as a symbol of the Savings Bond program. For today, as at the founding of our nation, it is freedom which is again at stake. Not all of us are called upon to fight in the jungles of Vietnam, but while our men are there, in the front line of a distant land, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines. We must all do our share—in every way we can—to support our men in Vietnam. One sure way is open to all Americans through the Savings Bond program."

"Today, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines."

"Today, above all, is a time for all Americans to rededicate themselves to the spirit that animated the Minutemen of Concord—who serve as a symbol of the Savings Bond program. For today, as at the founding of our nation, it is freedom which is again at stake. Not all of us are called upon to fight in the jungles of Vietnam, but while our men are there, in the front lines of a distant land, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines. We must all do our share—in every way we can—to support our men in Vietnam. One sure way is open to all Americans through the Savings Bond program."

One of the highlights of the exposition this year will be the confectionary competition which will involve 15 different categories. They include the preparation of pies and cakes, Danish pastry, petits fours, Easter eggs, various types of artistic showpieces and French pastry.

Besides Hungary, the countries which have announced their intentions to enter the competition include Austria, Mexico, Germany, Brazil, Argentina, Switzerland and the U. S. Additional entries from other countries are expected soon.

Witnesses To Gather Aug. 24-28

Miami Beach, Florida will be the site of the "God's Sons of Liberty" District Convention of Jehovah's Witnesses this summer, August 24-28, announced Jean C. Rainbow, overseer of the Belle Glade congregation.

The five day convention will be held in the Miami Beach Convention Hall, location of the annual Miss Universe contest.

This is one of 13 conventions held this year in the United States and Canada sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society. It will have an attendance of more than 12,000 coming from over 35 states and 5 foreign countries.

Rainbow advised the local congregations to begin making reservations now if they have not already done so, as the attendance is expected to go higher.

"The thrilling program at the first convention in Toronto, Canada, held earlier this summer, has heightened interest in the meeting at Miami Beach," he said.

Rainbow reported that over 600 volunteer workers from the Miami area congregations have been working since July 1 to obtain sufficient accommodations for the delegates.

"An outstanding feature of the convention," said Rainbow "will be staged demonstrations of actual Biblical scenes portraying the lives and ministry of real Bible characters."

Why should you buy
 U.S. Savings Bonds when there are so many other good investments?

To help your country is one answer—and a good one.

But Bonds have other advantages that make them worth your consideration.

For instance, they offer you just about the easiest way to save money: either with the Payroll Savings Plan where you just ask your employer to put part of your wages aside toward a Bond or through regular purchase of Bonds at your bank.

Another unique advantage of U. S. Savings Bonds is the way they stick with you. You can get your money any time.

But if you're like most people, you'll hang on to your Savings Bonds for the big things you want in your future.

And, of course, Bonds are a safe investment—as long as there's a United States of America.

Which brings us back to your country again. Bonds help defend freedom at a time when the enemies of freedom are stronger than ever.

Buy Savings Bonds. The banks or savings institutions that sell them don't charge you a penny for the service.

A message from the Treasury of a free people

How to speak out for freedom today

Free men have never gone in much for silence. Even before the first thirteen States became United States, men were speaking for freedom loud and clear.

Today Americans speak out for freedom many ways—in Congress, in local government, in neighborhood activities. Some speak out for freedom in other languages, in other lands. And millions of Americans speak out for freedom every time they buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

Every Savings Bond you buy is an investment in freedom. While you're saving money for your own family's future, you're helping Uncle Sam tend to the business of keeping men free today.

Perhaps you don't speak out for freedom in the same tone of voice when you buy a Bond as Patrick Henry did in his famous speech. But you speak every bit as surely. And every bit as proudly.

Why not speak out for freedom now? Buy Bonds at the bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Keep freedom in your future with
